

As it stands today, $162 billion will be cut from Medicare Advantage, forcing seniors to buy Medigap insurance like that sold by AARP, one of the many special interest groups the President cut a sweetheart deal with behind closed doors. There is also another $350 billion that will be cut from the regular Medicare, which will directly remove access to medical care for this, the Nation's Greatest Generation.

In rural areas like much of my district in Louisiana, seniors will lose access to critical medical care as home health, doctors, and hospitals—they will all be closing their doors.

I call on Speaker PELOSI to stop this horrible attack on the health and welfare of our senior citizens now.

HEALTH CARE

(Mr. PERLMUTTER asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. PERLMUTTER. Mr. Speaker, the mantra of our Republican colleagues here in the House is "Just say 'no.' We like the status quo."

Well, that was their mantra when it came to the Recovery Act, which has now helped improve the stock market. Housing starts are up, and, in Colorado, unemployment is down from 7.8 percent in July to 7 percent today. The trend is right.

In Colorado, we have some 42 projects, transportation projects, as a result of the Recovery Act. We have increases in energy. We have wind companies coming. We have solar companies coming to Colorado. It has been a success, to their chagrin.

Now we hear "Just say 'no.' We like the status quo" when it comes to health care. This country can't stand the status quo when it comes to health care. Premiums are up, deductibles are up, discrimination exists against people with prior illnesses. That's got to change.

We are going to vote "yes" and stop this inequity in health care.

HEALTH CARE

(Mrs. SCHMIDT asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Mrs. SCHMIDT. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to talk about an issue of great importance—health care. The potential bill before us should concern all Americans. While I have numerous issues with this bill, I will highlight two.

The first is abortion. There is no language to exclude abortion coverage in this bill. An overwhelming majority of Americans are against Federal tax dollars paying for abortion; yet this bill opens the door to do just that.

Second, cuts to our seniors. This bill is paid for out of the pockets of our seniors, with $162 billion coming from Medicare Advantage, a plan millions of our American seniors, including 17,000 in my district, enjoy.

Mr. Speaker, we can do better than this. Let us not pass a bill that could harm our most vulnerable, our infants, and our elderly.

HEALTH CARE

(Mr. GINGREY of Georgia asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. GINGREY of Georgia. Mr. Speaker, my patients' health care reform should not be written behind closed doors.

When Democrats came to Congress, they pledged, led by Speaker PELOSI, the most open Congress in history; yet, now, they are planning a costly government takeover of health care in the dark of night without any public input.

Mr. Speaker, a $1 trillion, 2,000-page blended plan that will dictate how Washington will run our health care system deserves real transparency, not just empty promises about openness.

Speaker PELOSI, my patients deserve better. Your legislation is going to tell them what type of health care their family can receive and what Medicare benefits will be cut from our seniors.

Mr. Speaker, even if the Democrat majority is going to prevent minority participation, my patients deserve to know what's going on behind these closed doors in the dark of night. If this bill really is the right prescription for reform in the health care system, then it will stand up to the light of day.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Members are reminded that House Rules require that they address their remarks to the Chair.

HEALTH CARE

(Mr. MURPHY of Connecticut asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. MURPHY of Connecticut. Mr. Speaker, when I was home recently, I spoke to a constituent who had lost his job because he had contracted gall bladder cancer. He was using every dime of his unemployment benefits to pay for the treatment necessary to keep him alive.

He is an example of the millions of Americans who have either lost their health care because they got sick and lost their job or the millions more who are just one paycheck or one illness away from losing their own. We have to have an answer for those individuals and for those families.

The Republican strategy of stopping health care reform at no cost provides no answer for the people of this country who have been waiting too long for a solution. It's time for this House to get beyond politics and start to provide real answers for the millions of individuals and families like that gentleman, who has his life put at stake by his lack of health care, and come together. Put politics aside and pass health care reform that will lower costs and expand access for the people of this country.

HEALTH CARE

(Ms. JENKINS asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Ms. JENKINS. Mr. Speaker, Republicans have health care solutions, but our solutions don't involve breaking promises to America's seniors. Our solutions don't involve slashing Medicare Advantage, a program that 7,400 seniors from my district rely on day in and day out. Our solutions don't involve massive cuts to Medicare that will go far beyond reducing waste and do real harm to current programs that Kansas seniors enjoy.

One of the President's stated goals for health care reform is to increase choice and competition in health care. Rather than moving forward with a plan that will reduce choice and have harmful effects on our seniors across the Nation, it is time to sit down and have an honest discussion about how we can extend health care coverage without a government takeover and without cutting Medicare.

HEALTH CARE

(Ms. ROS-LEHTINEN asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Ms. ROS-LEHTINEN. Mr. Speaker, my mother is 83 and not in the best of health. When I see what is being proposed in this House, health care agendas that take away from seniors like her, I get a cold shiver down my spine. Medicare and Medicare Advantage are lifelines for many elderly Americans, especially in my area of south Florida.

How can this House justify $162 billion in cuts to Medicare Advantage? Why in this economic recession are we limiting the choices for seniors or causing many to lose their current health care coverage? For seniors in my congressional district, cuts to Medicare Advantage would be disastrous.

The Congressional Budget Office says that Medicare prescription drug premiums will increase by 20 percent because of the Democrat plan. I know, and my constituents know, that seniors simply cannot afford this.

The health care reform bill makes it tougher on seniors to get the coverage and the treatment they deserve after a lifetime of hard work and sacrifice. Of course we need health care reform, but reform should not be on the backs of our seniors.

HEALTH CARE

(Mr. BROUN of Georgia asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. BROUN of Georgia. Mr. Speaker, Americans are growing tired of having to speculate about what is in a 1,000-plus page bill that is still being drafted in secret behind closed doors. The American people want transparency in this process, and they want real bipartisan reform. They want a step-by-step approach.

Why don't we work together out in the sunshine and add even a few of the elements Republicans have presented in our 53 health care alternatives?

One of these alternatives is my OPTION Act, H.R. 3889, that among other things would, number one, make the purchase of health insurance more affordable to more people. It would allow transparency in health care pricing; make all health care-related expenses tax deductible for everybody; and allow for individuals to keep their health insurance once they leave their jobs or shop across State lines.

We must bring health care reform back from the partisan abyss and give the American people real bipartisan health care reform.

RECOVERY ACT AIDING UPSTATE NEW YORK

(Mr. MAFFEI asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. MAFFEI. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to talk about some of the recent investments that the Recovery Act has made in my home district in upstate New York.

A few weeks ago, Secretary of Energy Steven Chu came to Syracuse to tour some of our innovative renewable energy research facilities. When he was in town, we announced more than $1.4 million in funding for energy efficiency programs in the city of Syracuse alone. The doors, windows, heating and cooling system at City Hall will be switched to a high efficiency, energy saving model. This is a great investment, because not only does it provide for lower carbon emissions, it will actually reduce the energy bills that Syracuse taxpayers will have to foot.

This weekend, I announced energy efficiency funding for the town of Irondequoit. Irondequoit has already had an impressive energy plan in place, so they will make the most of the $440,000 grant. Irondequoit will pursue projects like replacing lightbulbs at often-used public parks and creating a Deputy Commissioner of Public Works for Sustainability.

In my district, Mr. Speaker, the Recovery Act is making smart short-term and long-term investments. It is giving communities in my district the flexibility of making improvements and creating jobs.

HEALTH CARE

(Mr. REHBERG asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. REHBERG. This Saturday, as Americans celebrate Halloween, we should learn a valuable lesson from the frightening results Dr. Frankenstein's medical experimentation had.

Today, Congress is debating its own dangerous health care experiment. Stitched together in hidden laboratories from parts of at least five different bills and countless special interests, the final health care monster will ultimately hurt American seniors.

In Montana alone, more than 26,000 seniors choose to use Medicare Advantage. The nonpartisan Congressional Budget Office warns of $162 billion in cuts to this popular program. Those will hurt those Montana seniors. Worse, this plan will increase the cost of prescription drug premiums for seniors by 20 percent over the next 10 years.

When it comes to America's health care system, the stakes are too high for reckless legislative experimentation. No one will remember how the monster was made, but they will remember the damage it did.

HEALTH CARE

(Mr. HIMES asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. HIMES. Mr. Speaker, we are treated this afternoon to a steady stream of people rising, despite what they say, in opposition to fundamental health care reform. This long line of speakers, what do they have in common, apart from their party affiliation? They have really good health care, and they have got jobs guaranteed until January of 2011.

What about the millions of Americans who find themselves without jobs today and who, as they think about what the future holds, also think about what they are worried about and are terrified by the fact that their child may not be able to see a doctor when that child needs to?

We should talk about tort reform. We should talk about interstate competition of insurance. But only the bill being discussed now, not in secret, only the bill being discussed now provides for the coverage of those many millions of Americans who have lost their job in this recession. That is serious business, and that is what this House should continue to focus on.

HEALTH CARE

(Mr. NEUGEBAUER asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. NEUGEBAUER. Mr. Speaker, the people of my district are frustrated and they are scared. They feel like their Federal Government is out of control.

Now Speaker PELOSI is playing a game of hide-and-seek with a health care system that comprises one-fifth of our GDP.

The American people would like to know what you are hiding as they seek to find out what is in this bill, this massive, government-run health care bill. Perhaps you are hiding the fact that this will lead to government bureaucrats taking over control of seniors' health care.

Maybe you are hiding the fact that this bill is designed to include $163 billion in cuts to Medicare Advantage. These cuts will have an exceptionally harmful impact on seniors in rural areas, forcing many seniors into a one-size-fits-all government-run health care plan.

I would like to know, but I haven't seen the details of the bill because I don't know where they are hiding today. If you claim that it is true that the American people want government to take over health care, why is this process so closed and secretive, Madam Speaker?

The American people and our seniors deserve to know better. Madam Speaker, where are you?

OPENING OF THE JAMES A. FARLEY MEMORIAL BRIDGE

(Mr. HALL of New York asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. HALL of New York. Mr. Speaker, earlier this week I attended the opening of the James A. Farley Bridge in Stony Point, New York. Eight months ago, that bridge was 80 years old and structurally deficient, one of 13 deficient bridges on the list issued by DOT after the I-35 bridge collapse in Minnesota.

This Monday, just yesterday, thanks to the hard work of so many, we celebrated the early opening of its replacement. This project is more than just a bridge; it is an investment in our community, in our country and in our future. It created jobs that cannot be outsourced, while strengthening the local communities.

The new bridge will hold three lanes of traffic and sidewalks on either side, keep our communities connected, reduce congestion, and strengthen the Route 9W corridor, providing faster response times for local EMS and less noise for neighborhoods with reduced detoured traffic.

We should celebrate the cooperation between Federal, State and local government officials, especially the supervisors, Howard Phillips and Phil Marino from Stony Point and Haverstraw, the two towns joined by the bridge. I would like to congratulate them and all the workers on a job well done.
